Your Keys To A Healthier Home

1 Bedrooms/Nursery -Covering your bedding with encasings and keeping a watch on humidity levels can help in controlling exposure to dust mite allergen. To reduce animal dander, it is important to keep pets out of the bedroom. A HEPA air cleaner is ideal for this room.

2 Attic -Keep tabs on excess moisture which can create mold and mildew if left uncorrected. Use sealed plastic containers to store items.

3 Bath -Consider using personal and cleaning products that are low in chemicals and fumes. Shower water can be filtered for chlorine removal. Keep an eye out for mold and mildew in this room especially.

4 Family/Living -The air in this room is often loaded with dust, dust mite and pet allergens so improving air quality in this room is important. Running a HEPA air cleaner and using a vacuum equipped with a HEPA filter can help.

5 Kitchen -This room can be a haven for both odors and pests – both of which can be triggers for allergies and asthma. Proper ventilation, appliance maintenance, and the use of non-chemical cleaning agents can all lessen these triggers.

6 Laundry Room -Plumbing leaks and proper ventilation are the main concerns for this room. Additionally, consider using laundry detergents designed for allergy, asthma, and eczema sufferers.

7 Basement -Watch for signs of mold and mildew on concrete or dirt surfaces and keep humidity levels in check. Follow the air filter maintenance schedule for your HVAC systems and consider using a high efficiency filter.

8 Outside -Wear a mask when doing yard work. Remove mold from the roof, siding, deck, and patio.

Air Purifiers

Breathing clean air is not a luxury; it's essential, especially for allergy and asthma sufferers! Reduce the airborne allergens such as dander, dust and pollen in your home's air with a HEPA room air purifier. Air purifiers with special filters can also reduce chemicals and odors in your home. According to the EPA "indoor pollution sources that release gases or particles into the air are the primary cause of indoor air quality problems in the home," and the right air purifier can help to significantly reduce exposure to the indoor air pollutants responsible for triggering allergies and asthma, and causing harmful health effects.

Our National brand Advanced HEPA+ is made exclusive to our specifications to help people with allergies, asthma, or mild chemical sensitivities avoid the symptoms triggered by airborne contaminants. A True Medical-Grade HEPA filter plus 15 lbs of activated carbon remove 99.97% of lung-damaging particles, odors, gases and fumes from rooms up to 1500 square feet. Heavy-duty casters move easily over carpets and floors. Certified HEPA filter lasts for up to 5 years, saving on costly filter replacements. Available in five popular colors.

The Advanced HEPA+ Jr provides 4 stages of intense filtration. What sets the Advanced HEPA+ Jr. apart from other True HEPA systems is its filters. The Advanced HEPA+ contains 30 square feet of True Medical-Grade HEPA filter media. The HEPA is surrounded by 6.5 pounds of granular carbon/zeolite. The specially made activated carbon is highly porous, producing a much larger surface area, which enhances and extends its performance. Two pre-filters block larger particles one that surrounds the carbon/zeolite filter, the other that wraps around the interior of the unit's housing. The power of this filtration in capturing particles and gaseous pollutants in rooms up to 700 square feet puts the Advanced HEPA+ Jr. at the top of its class. Available in five popular colors.

Moisture in your home's air not only makes the environment more hospitable to dust mites, and mold growth. Molds thrive in humidity at or above 50-55%. A musty smell in your basement or bathroom is likely a mold or mildew problem as a result of excess moisture from leaks or spills or from consistently high relative humidity. Even in wintertime, when outside air does not hold as much moisture, the home is not immune from leaks and condensation). Extra care should be taken to monitor your home's relative humidity throughout the year, especially if your region is prone to heat and moisture. Air conditioning and electric dehumidifiers are the most effective ways to keep indoor humidity at a healthy level.
